Practice Profile

Alison has a broad civil practice which includes family/matrimonial law, commercial law, company law, land law, building management, personal injuries, and defamation. In her family law practice, she often advises clients on surrogacy law.

Fluent in both English and Cantonese, Alison is regularly instructed to conduct trials and civil appeals, concentrating particularly on the following areas: family, personal injuries and land. She also has experience in dealing with urgent matters, such as including obtaining and resisting injunctive relief, prohibition orders, etc.

She is regularly appointed as a mediator in a wide range of matters, such as family, personal injuries and general civil disputes.

She was a contributor (or co-contributor) of various chapters of the Annotated Ordinances, and the chapter on “Right to Family” in Law of the Hong Kong Constitution (3rd Edn., 2021), as well as editor of Constitutional and Human Rights Law in Hong Kong (Halsbury’s Special Edition) (2015).
