Practice Profile

Richard specialises in disputes arising from relationship breakdown. These extend into the realms of ancillary relief, family arrangements, trust disputes and corporate disputes (especially where a substantial shareholding is held by a family). He practises internationally but is centred on Hong Kong; in England he occasionally sits as a Deputy High Court Judge (and as a Recorder). He is in the highest ranking in his field in Hong Kong for both the Chambers & Partners Guide and Doyles Guide. Internationally, he is also top ranked by the Legal 500 (UK), Chambers & Partners Global and Chambers & Partners (UK).

In England, Richard enjoys the unique distinction of having twice been made Chambers and Partners' Family Law Silk of the Year. He has also been in the candidates for The Lawyer's overall Barrister of the Year - 2014 (third), 2012 (when he lost out in the final cut to Robert Jay QC (counsel to the Leveson Enquiry)) and 2011 (missing out to Jonathan Sumption QC now Justice Sumption of the Supreme Court)).

In the Chambers & Partners directory in England, Richard is in the "Star" category for the current Chambers and Partners guide (a distinction enjoyed by only three barristers in this, the highest category). For Hong Kong, Chambers & Partners describes him as, "highly experienced matrimonial QC," "at the top of his game", and "a great strategist and the most up-to-date quick thinker on matrimonial finance issues."

Richard has also been described as the "star of the Family Bar" by the Legal 500.

Spears Wealth Magazine described him as "simply the best".

He is also recommended by City Wealth and The Directory of Experts. He has been Family Law Silk of the Year for The Economist / Law Monthly (three times) and for Acquisition International (twice). He was The Times Lawyer of the Week, 4 November 2010, and short listed for UNESCO Lawyer of the Year in 2000.

Richard was born in Gosport, UK and then variously lived in Merseyside, Glasgow, London and Suffolk. He was educated at the Royal Hospital School (Greenwich Scholarship) and Trinity College, Oxford (Keasby Scholarship). He was the highest placed in the Oxford University examinations in Public International Law (Hugh Belott Prize-winner), second in Family Law and third in Land Law. He was also placed in the first class in Jurisprudence. He won the Astbury Scholarship at the Middle Temple and the Gottlieb Prize in Bar Finals. He was called to the Bar in July 1988. Richard is the only Family barrister to ever pass the Chancery Judge's specialist exam (being one of 9 successful candidates out of 897 candidates).

He acted for Mrs Katrin Radmacher in the Supreme Court case of Radmacher v Granatino [2010] UKSC 42 and for Mrs Yasmin Prest in the Supreme Court case of Petrodel Resources Ltd et al v Prest [2013] UKSC 34.

He is a Deputy High Court judge and a Recorder. Judicially he undertakes work in the Family Division and is also "ticketed" for Chancery and QBD work.
